

Plan for 2021 Redistricting of Indian River County Commissioner Districts

Introduction

The Florida Constitution requires that following the decennial census, the Board of County Commissioners “shall divide the county into districts of contiguous territory as nearly equal in population as practicable.” Florida statutory law mirrors this requirement by stating that the districts “shall be as nearly equal in proportion to population as possible.” Florida statutory law further states that changes to county commissioner districts “shall be made only in odd-numbered years.” Thus, the Board must undertake and complete the redistricting process before the end of 2011.

The purpose of this plan is (1) to establish a process and criteria to guide county staff in developing preliminary and final district boundaries, and (2) to inform the public with respect to the process and criteria and to invite public input at all stages of the process.

It is noted that while each commissioner is required to reside in his or her district, voting for commissioners in Indian River County is “at large” – meaning that each commissioner is elected by all voters in the county, not just those residing in the commissioner’s district.

Redistricting Objectives

The objectives of the redistricting process are (1) to establish district boundaries which meet all requirements of state and federal law, (2) to act through a process which encourages cooperation with and participation by the Supervisor of Elections and local municipalities, and the School Board, depending on whether the School Board wishes to undertake its own redistricting process and (3) to ensure that the process is open and transparent to the public, with ample opportunity for public input.

Redistricting Criteria

To the extent reasonably possible, county staff is directed to consider and balance the following criteria in developing preliminary and final district boundaries:

1. Population. Districts shall be as nearly equal in population as possible. Total population (rather than voting population) shall be used. Final population figures (i) shall not exceed a deviation of 6% between the largest and the smallest district, and (ii) shall not exceed a deviation of 3% between any district and the “ideal population” (defined as the total population of the county divided by five);

2. Compactness. Districts shall be compact, rather than sprawling;
3. Contiguity. Districts shall be contiguous – that is, no portion of a district shall be geographically separate and apart from the rest of the district;
4. Respect for Existing Districts. The geographical core of existing districts shall be preserved. Current commissioners shall be maintained in their current districts;
5. Communities of Interest. Neighborhoods and other communities of interest shall be included within a single district, rather than split among two or more districts;
6. Natural Boundaries. Districts shall follow major natural or man-made boundaries – e.g., major roads, rivers, bridges, canals, etc.;
7. Municipalities. Municipalities shall be included within a single district, rather than split among two or more districts;
8. Census Blocks. Districts shall follow United States Census Bureau blocks; and
9. Fair and Equal Representation. No district shall be drawn to split or minimize the political influence of any group of residents.
